Family Profile
Erythroxylaceae

Family Description
A family of three genera. Anevlophus is monotypic and restricted to West Africa. Nectaropetalum consists of a few species and is restricted to SE Asia. Erythroxylum is a large genus and is pantropic; one genus (Erythroxylum) occurs naturally in Australia.

Genera

Erythroxylum - A genus of about 200 species, pantropic, predominantly tropical America; four species occur naturally in Australia. Payens (1958); White (1933).

References