

Subrhytidome layer colour

The subrhytidome layer is a very thin layer of living bark just beneath the dead bark and before the outer blaze proper begins. It can be a very different colour from the outer blaze or it may be almost the same colour and continuous with it.

not illustrated

VB26 brown or black

---

Copyright © CSIRO 2020, all rights reserved.

not illustrated

VB27 cream

not illustrated

VB28 pink-red

not illustrated

VB29 green

Web edition hosted at <https://apps.lucidcentral.org/rainforest>